

SECM 2017 Position – Daniel Russo

Premise: Need to evolve CS curricula from computer literacy (ICDL) to computational thinking and programming skills.

Question: How should educators teach computer science classes?

Tactics: Develop education frameworks getting inspiration from software development methodologies. This helps students to get early exposure to professional environments.

Interests: Elaboration and Evaluation of educational frameworks for K-12 CS classes.